NYS OPRHP is constructing the bridge. In large capital projects such as this, OPRHP hires a construction project manager to oversee the construction project along with OPRHP staff. This construction manager was hired by OPRHP through a public bidding process. The selected consultant, HDR, is contracted to the state from pre-construction through final completion of the bridge construction. HHFT is paying for that construction manager. The entire contract value ($5M) for the construction manager was transferred to OPRHP in advance of the contract award, in accordance with state contract requirements and a supplemental agreement to the base cooperative agreement between OPRHP and HHFT. The money is not spent to date, as it is early in the contract, but OPRHP provides invoices as backup to the money spent from the $5 million, in accordance with the supplemental agreement.
