

HHFT has engaged a team of experts to collect, review and analyze visitation data. Some of that data has been released to the public and some of it is still being aggregated. In response to local input, HHFT expanded the data collection to include the latest visitation season and has convened a Visitation Data Committee composed of local volunteers appointed by municipal elected officials to review traffic and visitation collection methodology and the data analysis with a third-party expert consultant of their choosing. Once the data analysis is complete, the public will have an opportunity to review it.
