

Hudson Highlands Fjord Trail

The project is at the Master Plan level for all components except Breakneck Connector and Bridge. Think of the Master Plan as a 10,000-foot view of the project, with specifics oftentimes not yet determined until the next stage: design development. The Master Plan, with many conceptual images and maps, is available on our website. As we begin design development for portions of the project, we will share designs with the community and make them available on our website. Renderings are available for Breakneck Connector and Bridge, which is moving through design development to site plan.